Binckley's Nice Little Plot.

The President Much Worried.

Senator Fowler for Grant and Colfax.

A Similar Assurance from General Dix.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 3, 1868.

Binckley's Plot.

The premature discovery and public action of Binckley in New York, has disturbed President Johnson and all around him more than anything that has occurred in a long time. While all Mr. Rollins's friends are laughing heartily over the affair, Mr. Johnson is privately denouncing Binckley for being such a stupid bungler. Last night the President caused a statement to be widely telegraphed to the effect that he knew nothing of Binckley's attempts against Rollins. It is, however, positively known here that Binckley went to New York for this special purpose, and only with the President's consent and direction, but that he carried a letter of authority from the President, and this letter Binckley has shown in New York. The exact plan was that Binckley was to go to New York and the whole case was to be made out and kept perfectly quiet till officially presented to the President. The latter was then to examine the case and feel compelled by a sense of public duty on the showing made to suspend Rollins. Binckley, however, not knowing the [illegible] of the parties he selected as companions to Mr. Rollins, gave such a ridiculous character to the whole affair that the President and the whole ring in the thing with him are trying to shift all the responsibility to Binckley. Official information from New York is to the effect that all of the evidence presented yesterday in Binckley's secret trial of the case at his room, was of a hearsay character. Most of it was thrown out, and none of it was of any more legal value than Binckley's affidavit.

Secretary McCulloch telegraphed to District Attorney Courtney to take charge of the case, which was a pointed way of throwing Binckley overboard. The case did not proceed today, but was adjourned till to-morrow. Mr. Rollins telegraphed the District Attorney that he did not wish any counsel to appear for him, nor did he desire to produce any witnesses in his own defense. Binckley has notified the Marshal in New York not to serve any more of the subpoenas on Monday. In this he acts under instructions he dare not disobey.

Senator Fowler for Grant.

Senator Fowler's reported declaration for Grant and Colfax in Tennessee is in accordance with what he said to his Republican friends before leaving this city, namely, that he was going home to come out strong for Grant.

Rebellion Getting on its Feet Again.

Negroes and Union Men to be Driven Out.

A Fight in Conway County—An Insurrection in Lafayette and Columbia Counties—Rumored Assassination of Representative Johnson.

ST. LOUIS, September 3.—Information just received from a reliable source states that the general opinion among the Republicans of Arkansas is that the leaders of the Democratic party in that State are determined to overcome the reconstructed government of the State by violence, and to carry the State by bloodshed and assassination. Hundreds of armed men have congregated in Conway county, to prevent the execution of the laws. The rebel whites are determined to disarm the negroes. Monday night a fight took place between fifty-seven whites and twenty negroes, resulting in the latter being driven off, with one of their number mortally wounded. Bushwhacking continued during Tuesday. The cause of the disturbance was a suit for bastardy against a white man brought by a negro woman in the town of Lewisburg. On Tuesday, three or four hundred armed men entered Lewisburg, took possession of the ferry, and drove the Union men and negroes to the woods.

An insurrection is said to have broken out in Lafayette and Columbia counties. The Circuit Judge was driven off. One man was whipped and several negroes are reported killed.

It is rumored that Dr. Johnson, representative from Mississippi county, was assassinated.

POLITICAL

NINTH OHIO DISTRICT.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Commercial.

[illegible], O., September 3, 1868.

The Ninth District trouble has finally been settled by the withdrawal of Noble and Lee, and the calling of a new convention, to be held at Clyde, Wednesday the 9th inst. It seems to give good satisfaction to the Democracy of Crawford, and they claim the election of whoever may be nominated.

MISSOURI.

ST. LOUIS, September 3.—The Republicans of the Second Congressional District, in convention at Washington, Mo., nominated G. A. Finkelnburg for Congress.

OHIO.

SANDUSKY, O., September 3.—Hon. W. P. Noble, regular Democratic nominee for Congress from this district, has withdrawn in consequence of the refusal of part of the Democracy of the district to support him. Another convention is called, to meet at Clyde, September 9th, to select a new candidate. Hon. Robert Lee, the candidate of that portion of the party who refused to support Mr. Noble, will probably withdraw in favor of the nominee of the new convention.

WISCONSIN.

[illegible], September 3.—The Third District Republican Convention nominated General Amasa Cobb for Congress.

GREEN BAY, September 3.—Philetus Sawyer was nominated here to-day by the Republicans of the Fifth District.

THE TWO PARTIES.

Extract from a Speech by Senator Wilson.

In Bangor, Maine, on the 28th, Hon. Henry Wilson, of Massachusetts, addressed one of the largest meetings ever known in that State. His theme was the "Two Parties," and he spoke with tremendous effect, his speech being one of the most complete efforts of his life. We make the following quotations:

In November there is to be another struggle between these two parties for the control of the National Administration. The Republican party met at Chicago, reaffirmed its policy of reconstruction, pronounced against all forms of repudiation, for the reduction and equalization of taxation, for the equal protection of American citizens, for the recognized obligations to our soldiers and to the widows and orphans of the gallant dead, and for the removal of restrictions imposed upon rebels as rapidly as the safety of the loyal people will admit. The convention then presented the name of General Grant, the great captain, who has so often marshalled our armies to victory; and Schuyler Colfax, a statesman of pure life, stainless honor, and commanding influence.

The Democratic party assembled in national convention in New York. Horatio Seymour again presided. That selection of its presiding officer was a notification to the country that this convention would be no more patriotic or wise than was the Democratic Convention of 1864. There assembled the self-same leaders, or their [illegible], that pronounced, in 1864, the war to preserve the nation's life "a failure," and demanded "a cessation of hostilities," which would have made inevitable a dismemberment of the Republic and the death of the nation. To that convention came also a few disappointed, sour, and fallen spirits, who once were enlisted with the legions of Liberty, but who were never imbued with the generous and ennobling impulses of Human Equality. There came, too, the exponents and representatives of the "lost cause."

There was Wade Hampton, of South Carolina, who, on his way to the Convention, said to the students of General Lee's College, "The cause for which Stonewall Jackson fell cannot be in vain, but in some form will yet triumph." There was Governor Vance, of North Carolina, who told rebel troops during the war to "pile hell so full of Yankees that their feet will stick out of the windows." There was Buckner, of Kentucky, who came to Washington at the opening of the war to procure arms for his State and a commission for himself; but who went back to Kentucky, betrayed his State and country, joined the rebel ranks, and was afterward forced to surrender "unconditionally" to General Grant. There was Preston, also of Kentucky, who abandoned his State, became a rebel General—a Commissioner and conspirator in Europe—against his country. There was Basil Duke, one of John Morgan's lieutenants in his thieving, robbing and murderous raids through Ohio and Indiana. There was Robert Ould, of Virginia, a rebel General and Commissioner, and familiar with the horrors of Belle Isle and Libby Prison. There was Forrest, of Fort Pillow infamy, concerning whose fiendish conduct a Congressional committee thus report: "Of the men, from three hundred to four hundred are known to have been killed at Fort Pillow, of whom at least three hundred were murdered in cold blood after the post was in possession of the rebels, and our men had thrown down their arms and ceased to offer resistance." Of one hundred and eighty-two members of the Convention from the rebel States, there was not one Union man of well known and approved loyalty. There were more rebel soldiers than soldiers of the Union army—more members of Jeff. Davis's Congress than of the Congress of the United States. Is there any wonder then that one who had heard the rebel battle yell in the land of the rebellion should have instinctively exclaimed, "the rebel yell," as he heard the shout that arose at the words of Wade Hampton's resolution declaring the reconstruction acts "revolutionary, unconstitutional and void?"

Henry A. Wise proclaims that "secession is more alive than ever," and he supports Seymour and Blair because they will "assume military power" for the overthrow of the reconstructed governments of the South. Vance boasted to the people of Richmond, on his way home from the New York Convention, that "the South would gain by the election of Seymour and Blair all it fought for in the rebellion." Admiral Semmes, who commanded the Alabama when the Kearsarge, in the face of Europe, sent her to the bottom of the seas, and who turned pirate by destroying unarmed Yankee whalers after the rebellion had been subdued, said, in a ratification speech at Mobile: "I have been a Democrat all my life, before the war, during the war, and since the war, and fought the war on the principles of the Democracy * * * the grand old Democratic party has risen from its long slumber and the election of Seymour and Blair will reduce the negro to a subordinate position as an inferior race." Percy Walker told the same Mobile assemblage that this is the first time, since Lee [illegible]

METHODISM.

Second Annual Session of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Methodist Church.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, Sept. 2, 1868.

Conference opened with religious services, conducted by the Rev. G. G. Westfall.

Dr. Reeves finished his elaborate arguments in favor of the deaconship as a distinct order of the ministry, after which the regular business of the Conference was resumed.

Additional lay delegates were received by certificate, and names enrolled as members of the Conference. On motion, the Conference tendered thanks to Dr. Reeves for his able discourse on the deaconship.

On motion, the following brethren were appointed on pulpit services during the session: T. H. Colhouer, Wm. Reeves, Jas. A. Black.

A committee of five was appointed on Itinerancy and Orders: J. B. Graham, J. W. Rutledge, S. F. Crowther, Samuel Fleming, Geo. W. Russell.

A Committee of five was appointed on necessities of Circuits, Missions and Stations: H. Palmer, W. T. Wilson, John Palmer, F. Blood, A. Rinehart.

Revs. T. H. Colhouer and Alex. Patton were elected permanent secretaries.

Thursday, three o'clock P. M., was fixed as the hour for the election of President, Committee on Pastoral Relations, and Conference Steward.

A committee of three was appointed on Finance: G. G. Westfall, C. P. Gordon, R. Lee.

A committee of three was appointed on Sabbath Schools: R. H. Sutton, M. Lee, John Lord.

A committee of three on Temperance: J. H. Hull, G. Chappell, Geo. Schwartz.

A committee of three on Missions: W. Collier, J. Gregory, J. R. Fard.

A committee of three on Statistics: W. Wallace, D. Colclough, N. Stevens.

A committee of five on College and Educational Interests: G. Brown, J. Cowl, A. Clark, Geo. F. H. Collier, J. Clancy.

A committee of three on Obituaries.

A committee of three on Education: D. Jones, W. Evans, D. C. Garrison.

Rev. Asa Mahan, D. D., President of Adrian College, was introduced and invited to an honorary seat.

The following brethren were also introduced and invited to honorary seats: Rev. Dr. Waters, pastor of the Baptist Church, New Brighton; Rev. J. R. Mills, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church; Rev. A. G. Wallace, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church; Rev. Aaron Wilson, of the United Brethren Church; Revs. Goodrich, Luty, Gregory and Grant, of the Methodist Church, and Rev. J. L. Simpson, of the West Virginia Conference. Mr. Simpson is a member of a Board of Commissioners from the West Virginia Conference to communicate officially with this body on ecclesiastical relations, and will report in due time. His message is looked for with considerable interest, as it is well known that the brethren in West Virginia have had peculiar trouble for several years, owing to political prejudices against the Methodist Episcopal Church, and more especially against the Methodist Church in its present organization. Mr. Simpson represents the loyal portion of the community in that section, and has been a firm and efficient advocate of freedom in church and State from the beginning of his ministry.

The President proceeded to read his annual report, recounting his official acts during the year, such as the employment of missionaries and other laborers in vacant fields, and the reception of ministers, by letter, from the denominations.

In accordance with a suggestion in the President's report, a committee was appointed on uniformity in the Mode of Public Worship: W. Collier, A. Clark, F. C. Herron.

On Monday evening the Rev. Wm. Collier, D. D., delivered a most interesting sermon on the divinity of Christ. His discourse was one of great research, convincing argument, and eloquent address. He clearly established the truth of his proposition, that the Jesus Christ of the New Testament is the Jehovah of the Old Testament.

Rev. George Brown, D. D., the oldest member of the Conference, stated that during the past year he had preached sixty-three times, and traveled four thousand miles. He is in vigorous health and good spirits.

THURSDAY MORNING, September 3, 1868.

Conference was opened with religious exercises conducted by Rev. J. B. Graham, of Pittsburgh.

Rev. Dr. Laishley, J. L. Simpson, Samuel Young and D. R. Helmick, Commissioners from West Virginia Conference, were introduced, and on motion, ten o'clock A. M. to-day fixed as the time to hear their message to this Conference.

Rev. Mr. Young, of Painesville, Ohio, one of the old reformers in the question of mutual rights, was introduced and made a very touching address, recounting the scenes of early days when the principles of lay delegation were cherished only by a few, and when the adherents to the cause were subject to great trial and censure.

A communication from the Wesleyan Methodist Church at Pittston, Luzerne county, Pa., asking admission into the Conference, was read and, on motion, the church was received [illegible] of the appointments of the Pittsburgh Conference.

Dr. Laishley, in behalf of the Commissioners of Western Virginia, addressed the Conference on the subject of his mission, viz: to ask admission as a body of loyal Methodists into the Pittsburgh Conference.

Dr. Laishley was followed by Revs. Helmick and [illegible], both of whom united in the appeal for admission into this Conference.

Dr. Brown followed in a warm speech in favor of the application of the Commission, when, on motion, the application was referred to a committee of five—Dr. Scott, Dr. Collier, J. [illegible], J. H. Clancy, J. L. Freeman.

This action contemplates an important enlargement to the boundaries of the Pittsburgh Conference.

Adjourned. Prayer by Rev. H. Lucas.

The following is the roll of the Conference, so far as reported on Wednesday evening:

PENNSYLVANIA MINERAL DEVELOPMENTS.

Fossil Iron Ore in Huntingdon County—Iron in Franklin County—Coal Near Pottstown.

A rich and apparently inexhaustible deposit of fossil iron ore was recently discovered on the Barree Forge and Furnace property, belonging to Messrs. Green, in Porter township, Huntingdon county. A correspondent of the Huntingdon Journal, who has been visiting the locality, thus refers to specimens of this ore, of which the editor of the Journal says there is a sufficient quantity to keep a hundred furnaces in blast for years: I have just examined, with much surprise and no little interest, what seems to me to be a mineralogical wonder, in the shape of a large block of fossil iron ore, one of the most magnificent specimens I have ever seen. It was taken from a block vein on the eastern side of "Short Mountain," a portion of Tussey's Mountain, lying between the two rivers, Big and Little Juniata. The vein from which it was taken is about one and a half miles from the Barree Iron Works, on the property of Messrs. Green. After being removed it was brought to the furnace and found to weigh 3,150 pounds. It is a solid mass of rich, pure ore, presenting a surface outside as smooth and regular as if dressed by a marble cutter, and measures sixty-two inches in length by thirty-two inches in breadth. There are other blocks at the mine from which this was taken, but none so large have as yet been discovered. It is the intention of the Messrs. Green to have it analyzed by a competent chemist, and there is little doubt of its yielding 50 to 60 per cent. of pure iron, if not more. The discovery of this ore, in its present locality, fully corroborates the opinion given a few months since by Professor Mosley, mining engineer of the Cambria Iron Works, together with that of Mr. Trimbath, an experienced miner. It is well worth a visit from mineralogists, geologists and scientific men, as well as all others interested in the manufacture of iron. Call and see it the first opportunity."

Specimens of iron ore have recently been taken from the farm of Mr. Somers, in Washington township, Franklin county, which are pronounced to be of a superior quality. The [illegible] in which it was found is said to abound with it, and a prominent manufacturer offers to pay three dollars per ton for it delivered at Greencastle.

The Reading Dispatch states that during the past week, while some men were engaged in digging a well on the premises of Wm. Engel, Jr., at [illegible], in Pottsgrove township, about two miles from Pottstown, they struck upon a vein or deposit of Anthracite Coal and slate. The specimens taken out were about 10 to 20 per cent. of pure coal, and the balance a fine slate. The digging thus far has not gone through the strata, and it is possible that further developments may prove the coal vein a valuable one. It would be a great thing for this vicinity if coal should be found here in any great quantity. We have already copper ore, iron ore, limestone, mineral paint, and valuable quarries of building stone, and it may be that we have also coal deposits and slate formation. There is no knowing what rich ores and minerals may be hidden down under the surface of the earth in and around Pottstown.

Sentimental Swimming.

I don't wonder women are not enamored of bathing, for the costumes worn are rarely becoming to female beauty. Out of the window I catch a glimpse of a blue eyed girl I tried to teach to swim this morning, though I presume I took more of a lesson than I gave. She is in that charmingly uncertain condition between girlhood and womanhood, and in her blue trousers and tunic, her little white feet treading symmetry into the sand, and her arch and smiling face looking out from beneath a straw hat, she certainly looked more bewitching than she does at this moment. I carried her to where I was obliged to hold her up, and then supporting her gently, I told her to strike out. She did so womanfully. She seemed so pretty, playing the part of the boy, that I yielded to the temptation to let her slip from my hand, knowing she would be frightened and cling to me like ivy. I was right. She sank under the swell of the sea, and I caught her in my arms as if I had done a heroic instead of a merely sentimental thing. The little creature was terribly alarmed, and I had to hold her tightly for the remainder of the bath. She afterwards told several persons I had saved her life, and as I had no desire to receive credit I did not deserve, I informed her privately of my strategy, she pouted, and looked prettier than ever, and assured me she would never go into the water with me again. Perhaps she won't. But being a man of incorrigible vanity, and a grandfather besides, I believe she will. What girl of sixteen is afraid of a man of seventy, more or less? We old fellows sometimes forget our age. —Letter from Long Branch.

PENNSYLVANIA PETROLEUM REGION.

How Petroleum is Found.

THE VALLEY OF OIL CREEK.

Petroleum Centre and Vicinity.

PETROLEUM CENTRE August 28, 1868.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.

"Philos," your correspondent, whose article from Pleasantville is published in your issue of 18th inst., gives the Pleasantville oil field a short lease of life—ninety days. While we have no objection to the "reverse" picture of the oil mining business being given, we are inclined to take issue with "Philos" upon the conclusions on which his assertion is based. To begin with, the word "exhaustion" as applied to Petroleum is not borne out by the experience of oil miners generally. Wells become temporarily unproductive from being drowned out by the water flooding from the water-veins above into the oil veins below. This is caused by the putting down too many wells in a given space, and their abandonment when unproductive. At Pleasantville many of the wells are cased, which prevents to a great degree the escape of the water to the oil veins below. The theory of a number of wells, over a large space of territory, as at Pleasantville, drawing their supply from the same fountain, is one that is too absurd for serious considerations. That the Pleasantville oil field will eventually prove unproductive like Pithole and some other locations is highly probable, nay inevitable, but it will be from the plethora of wells, and not from the exhaustion of the oil itself. That will still exist, though kept down by a heavy body of water, and as is not improbable, forced into other channels. We give the following theory of the formation of petroleum in support of our position as to its practical inexhaustibility:

It may be set down as an axiom that nature is not only capable of producing now all articles that she has ever produced, but that she is and will continue to produce them until she substitutes something better. Our meaning will be better understood by applying it to a single article. Suppose, for instance we take petroleum. This is known to be a hydro-carbon, composed of two gases. These gases are primary elements, indestructible and exhaustless in quantity. One of them hydrogen—is a constituent of water, and, of course, is as inexhaustible as the ocean. The other is a constituent of all vegetable formations, and in many of our rocks. One hundred pounds of limestone, when burned, will weigh but sixty pounds. The part driven off is carbonic acid. Underlying the "Oil Rock" is a stratum of limestone, of unknown thickness, [illegible] to be upwards of one hundred feet in depth. The water falling on the surface and percolating through the porous sandstone that comprise the "oil rock," becomes charged with salt, potash, saltpetre and other chemical ingredients, and finally reaches the limestone rock and decomposes it—the carbon in the rock and the hydrogen of the water uniting to form oil, while the oxygen is set free to ascend to the atmosphere or unite with minerals and form oxydes. The reverse of this operation is seen in burning the oil in a lamp—the oxygen in the atmosphere uniting with the carbon in the oil, forming water—thus completing the circle. So in answer to the question so frequently asked, "when will the oil become exhausted?" we may state, when the ocean is, and not before, for the process as above stated, will go on, as long as time itself shall last.

The Washington McClintock farm upon which the town of Petroleum Center is located, belongs to the Central Petroleum Company, of New York. There is quite a brisk town here, it being the shipping point for quite a large oil field, and is centerally located, has a number of business houses, several hotels, and a daily newspaper, The Petroleum Center Record. The farm consists of 250 acres, and for several years past has been highly productive. The present daily production is about 380 bbls. The farms adjoining are the Egbert, Woods, Stevenson, Benninghoff, Boyd, McIlhenny, and McCrea. But little doing on any of these, save the Woods. Cause, too many wells, and too much water. The Woods farm, adjoining the M'Clintock, is on the hill, between four and five hundred feet above the level of Oil Creek, and consists of 68 acres. Thos. Woods, and S. A. Woods, father and son, formerly of Pittsburgh, owners. At the time of our visit we found 27 wells pumping, and 20 drilling. Daily production, about 900 bbls. This farm is under capital management. Water for the engines is furnished from a water well drilled for the purpose, and the wells yield gas in abundance for fuel. We know of but few farms of similar size that produced a more abundant and permanent yield. A continuance of the present rate will, in a very few years, place the Messrs. Woods in comfortable circumstances at least. These wells are all cased, and the well rigs, machinery, arrangements for storing the oil, &c., are as complete as can be made. Mr. S. A. Woods is resident superintendent. We found him a shrewd business man, energetic, and extremely courteous. He is a bachelor, and informed us, confidentially of course, that he had not the time to spare, to look around for a wife. We think he is, or will be in a short time, abundantly able to support one. His success has been achieved by his own industry, and the present production of the farm is a high compliment to his excellent management. He will accept our thanks for kindness shown. The daily production of the farms surrounding the Wash. M'Clintock, not including the Woods, is estimated at about four to five hundred bbls. A number of undeveloped farms located back of Oil Creek, west side, and of the Woods, Story and Blood farms, as far down as Meikle Run, and extending nearly to Cherry Tree P. O., have been purchased recently, and many locate it as the next oil field. We are of opinion that about the whole of Venango County will eventually be tested by the oil miner's drill. The high prices, as compared with last year, have prevented much, or indeed any oil from being tanked. The high prices were consequently upon the demand being fully equal to the supply. Both reasons account for the large amount of empty iron tankage in the oil region. We can hear of no accumulation at any of the principal shipping points elsewhere. Owners of tanks think five dollars per bbl. is above their views for storing oil, and are consequently engaged now in buying and selling at market rates. If present prices continue, but a comparatively small amount of tanking will be done. The immense development at Pleasantville, and the large number of wells to be tested during the present month is consequently looked to with intense interest by oil dealers. An increase of the daily production a few thousand barrels, will lower the price of oil. Otherwise high rates promise to rule for all of the year. The number of new wells being drilled in Pleasantville oil field and vicinity is variously estimated at from 250 to 350. Each of these wells represent a cash outlay of about $4,500 to $5,000. Engines, tools and well machinery are in great demand. There is a great scarcity of tubing for the wells. The demand for all these articles is great, at good prices.

Mr. George V. Forman, superintendent of the Laytonia Town and Oil Company, has commenced to drill two wells in Venango City on the edge of the bluff. Some good wells, were formerly obtained in the vicinity.

The number of arrivals at Pleasantville is said to average 1,000 per day. All, the cautious people who have carefully abstained in former years, are now going in with a rush. Pittsburgh is heavily represented. The first query of the latter class is in regard to the possibility of obtaining the COMMERCIAL daily. That being accomplished they settle down contentedly. Market quiet. RALEIGH.

Mass Meeting and Pole Raising in the Twentieth Ward.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Republicans of the Twentieth ward was held last evening at the Wigwam. During the afternoon the Grant and Colfax Club had raised a large pole. It is probably the highest pole in the county, measuring one hundred and seventy feet—ten feet in the ground and one hundred and sixty above. The Wigwam was crowded. A large number of the fair sex of the village was present, and gave dignity to the meeting.

Major Wm. Frew called the meeting to order and introduced the East Liberty Glee Club, under the leadership of W. A. Lawton, Esq. The club have secured a Mason & Hamlin organ for service in the wigwam, during the campaign. The club sang with fine effect "Good by Andy."

Major Frew then introduced A. M. Brown, Esq.

Major Brown began by congratulating the meeting on the glorious victory in Vermont; he recognized it as a forerunner of the greater victory in November. He compared the Vermont victory to the Democratic victory in Kentucky, and paid an eloquent tribute to the patriotism of New England, which contrasted strongly with the semi-loyalty of Kentucky. Major B. then read from the New York World, of December 6th, 1865, which commented upon the report of General Grant, several eloquent tributes to the Republican candidate, which he compared to the course at present pursued by that journal in reference to the same person. He then compared the records of Gen. Grant and Seymour. Had Governor Seymour been present he certainly would have believed in the adage—"comparisons are odious." The speaker understood why the Democrats had thrust aside Hancock. He was a good soldier, and no rebels could be induced to support him. In this country the Democrats have been seeking to detract attention from the great question, namely the question of reconstruction, of loyalty or disloyalty. They are afraid to meet it, and seek refuge behind the bond question. In the discussion of their favorite topic, they resort to forgery and falsehood. They are issuing circulars purporting to be the act of Congress in relation to the bonds, but they have left out the most important part, to-wit: the clause in reference to the redemption of the bonds and greenbacks. The act provides that greenbacks are receivable for and convertible into bonds, and now they propose to pay off the bonds with the same paper. Any man can take his money, invest it in real estate and he has a much better investment. And yet they talk of "bloated bond holders." The National honor required that we should act in good faith toward the bond holders. In an eloquent perioration the gentleman concluded, urging the importance of thorough organization and foretelling a glorious victory in the autumn.

The glee club then sang, "Strike for the Land of the Free."

Thomas Howard, Esq., was then introduced. He said that he had been one of the first Republicans in this county and in this State. He had always voted the whole ticket, and intended to do so in the future. He always had respected the will of the people, and always would. He heard thunder in Vermont, and it was the precursor of a terrific storm. He observed that the thunder had already killed the Post's rooster. The people of the country were divided into two great parties, and were the same parties which have been in conflict for eight years. The issues were the same, the leaders the same; during the war the Democrats said the issuing of greenbacks and bonds was unconstitutional. Yet in 1864 the people said it was right and constitutional, and he believed the recent acts of Congress were to be decided right and proper in November by the same tribunal. When the rebels met in New York they were afraid to openly declare for repudiation, yet they do it indirectly. They will redeem the bonds in greenbacks and forget to provide for the redemption of greenbacks. They will redeem it as the late Confederacy redeemed its scrip. If we had no right to issue greenbacks during the war what right have we to do it now? He thanked them for tendering the issue so plainly. The gentleman then entered into a very able and elaborate discussion of the effect of the Constitutional Amendment, showing that it was our only guarantee for peace, that it is perfect accordance with justice and right. He concluded with an eloquent tribute to our candidates.

The Ninth and Tenth Wards Glee Club then sang "Sherman's March to the Sea" in a very effective manner, after which the meeting adjourned with three cheers for the ticket.

Mass Meeting in Allegheny.

A mass meeting of the Republicans of the north side of the river was held last evening in the Allegheny Diamond. The meeting was a very large and enthusiastic one. Allegheny turning out in full force as she always does. An excellent brass band was in attendance, and interspersed the speeches with national airs, which they rendered in an effective manner. The meeting was called to order at half-past seven o'clock, and was organized by the election of the following officers:

President—Hon. James L. Graham.

Vice Presidents—Joseph Jenks, of Allegheny; Wm. H. Johnson, of Pittsburgh; Eben Bragdon, of Neville township; David Blair, of Allegheny; George Neely, of Marshall township; Samuel G. McCallister, of West Deer township; Andrew Rosensteel, of Franklin; J. G. Marshall, of Pine township; James J. Robinson, of Butler county.

Secretaries—Reporters of the Republican Press.

In the absence of Senator Graham, Captain John F. Jennings officiated as Chairman of the meeting.

H. C. Mackrell, Esq., was introduced by the chairman, and spoke for about half an hour on the general issues of the day.

Colonel Thomas M. Bayne was introduced and made a very eloquent and able argument, speaking for over an hour, and discussing the general questions at issue and urging work and organization in the campaign.

At the conclusion of Colonel Bayne's speech, the meeting adjourned with three cheers for the whole ticket.

Celebration Over the News from Vermont.

The Second Ward Grant Club gave a torchlight procession last evening in honor of the great Republican victory in Vermont.

The procession was formed at Wilkins Hall; the headquarters of the Club, and headed by the Great Western Band and a cannon, marched through the principal streets of the city.

At the head of the procession was a transparency bearing the following inscriptions:

"All hail, Vermont! As she has passed the word the word along the line, so Pennsylvania will give the 'countersign' in October."

"The Green Mountain State has struck the key-note of the campaign."

"Vermont Grant's first gun."

"Millions rejoice over the news from Vermont."

The members of the Club wore their new bronze caps and capes, and when carrying their torches presented a fine appearance.

The route of the procession, according to the new naming of the streets, was as follows: Along Smithfield street to Fifth avenue; down Fifth avenue to Liberty street; along Liberty to Sixth street; down Sixth to Penn; up Penn to Tenth; along Tenth to Liberty; up Liberty to Smithfield; along Smithfield to Fourth avenue; up Fourth avenue to Grant street; down Grant to Third avenue; down Third avenue to Smithfield, and along Smithfield to Water street.

It was intended to fire a salute on the wharf, near the Monongahela House, but it was discovered that the gun had been spiked and this was postponed. The Club then marched back to Wilkins Hall.

At various points Roman candles were fired by those in the procession, and all along the route great enthusiasm was manifested.

IT is said that a well known New York whisky speculator has obtained for the time being complete control of the market for that article. In the early part of the summer, being confident that Congress would reduce the tax, it seems he came into Pennsylvania, and from the various distilleries here bought up all the whisky in bond that was for sale at 15 cents a gallon. The Government tax at that time was $2 per gallon, and owing to the uncertain aspect of "the situation," the holders were glad to get rid of it on any terms, particularly as the article was selling in New York then at $1 50 per gallon, with the tax supposed to be paid.

THE WEEKLY COMMERCIAL, containing a full report of another great speech by [illegible] of Illinois, a part of Senator Wilson's great Maine speech, with a large amount of other reading, political and miscellaneous, besides a very full and complete review of all the markets, at home and abroad, is now ready. Send your orders.

THE result in Vermont has completely upset the Democrats, and given the Republicans renewed zeal. The majority will be in the neighborhood of 30,000. In November it will be fully [illegible]. The Green Mountain Boys have pitched the tune that will be caught up everywhere by the legions who fought rebellion down once, and stand ready, if necessary, to do it again.

It was supposed that Senator Fowler, of Tennessee, could be counted on to give his support to Seymour and Blair, but that, like other expectations concerning the Democracy ticket, has proved a delusion. The Tennessee Senator is for Grant and Colfax. He is but one of tens of thousands, however, on whom the Democrats have counted only to be disappointed.

SECRETARY MCCULLOCH is reported as having declared that he has been "compelled to unite with the party that has caused so much trouble to the nation" and "give the support and whatever of official patronage he can control to elect Seymour and Blair." What power "compels" him to do this, it is not necessary to inquire. That which chiefly attaches to the confession is the contempt which most men will feel for the man making it.

THE announcement that Major General John A. Dix, who at present is our Minister to France, is warmly in favor of Grant and Colfax, accords with his fame as a Patriot and Statesman. General Dix stands first on the list of war Democrats. He has a confirmed reputation for unselfish patriotism. If the Democratic party were not rotten to the core, they would have sought him to be their candidate. No man alive knows better than General Dix how thoroughly unsound Seymour was throughout the rebellion. Thousands of war Democrats all over the land will follow General Dix's banner in support of Grant, and help to swell the November victory.

THAT outspoken sheet, the Mobile Register, scorns concealment in discussing the issues of the present campaign. The Register is no mere whipper-snapper that takes its cue from the statements of more influential journals. It is a ruling journal, and does more towards the shaping of public sentiment than almost any paper in the State. In a labored editorial discussing the present posture of affairs, the Register after asserting that the vote of Alabama will be given for Seymour and Blair, adds, "in four months there will not be a carpet-bagger or white Radical within the limits of Alabama." In that event we may conclude that there will not be a freedman or a Union man either. In the face of these bloodthirsty sentiments, we are told by the Northern Democrats that the South entertains for us nothing but the most kindly feelings. Well, we make the broad declaration that the citizens of this country have the right to live where they please. And since the question comes to [illegible] chiefly on this, we are perfectly willing to "fight it out on this line." This is a question that can be settled in a space of time so brief compared with that expended in wiping out slavery, that scarcely any considerable time for preparation is required.

TOO VIRTUOUS!

A local orator and expounder of the faith according to Seymour and Blair, fires up at the intimation that the Democratic party are opposed to paying the national debt and in favor of paying the Confederate debt. The gentleman is too sensitive by half. Virtue so very demonstrative naturally gives rise to the suspicion that a good deal is put on to hide a deformity. Be that as it may, one thing is certain: The Democratic party is squarely committed against the last amendment known as the fourteenth article, which enacts into the fundamental law the sacred obligation to pay the national debt, and repudiates wholly and forever the rebel debt. [illegible]

THE VERDICT OF THE PEOPLE.

The Democrats were confident of increasing their vote largely in Vermont, consequently a reduction in the Republican majority was with them a foregone conclusion. [illegible] commend their approval, have already made up their minds that no course is open to them but to support Grant and Colfax.

THE OLD FEELING.

We have always inclined to the belief that the reestablishment of perfect good feeling between the United States and Great Britain depended more upon the influence of time, which, more than anything else, softens acrimony and bitterness, than the amicable adjustment of the Alabama claims, the tender of good will on the part of the English Government, or the acknowledgment of an error on their part, accompanied by pledges of better behavior in future. That the English Government in aiding and abetting the rebels prolonged the contest, drove cargoes from American bottoms as completely as though they had scuttled and sunk them in forty fathoms, and buried half a million of the flower of the land in bloody graves, no intelligent American will pretend to deny. Still, we do not favor the policy which would bury another half million merely to gratify revenge. The interests of the nation imperatively demand peace. War with England, in our opinion, would destroy more than either of us could afford to lose, and would only prove beneficial to nations that have even less in common with us. At the same time, the consideration which we owe to ourselves, and due caution, based upon past experience, behooves us to provide for future contingencies in such a manner as will tend to promote our own welfare, independent and in spite of open or insidious attacks by foreign powers. If the present generation were to forget the attitude assumed towards the Republic by England during the war, it would be more than human. If it fails to improve upon that which succeeds it, the parts played in the great tragedy by England and France respectively, or fails to contrast their attitude with that assumed by Russia, it will fall short of performing its duty.

We are moved to these remarks by the perusal of that portion of the English press, which seizes upon the occasion of Jefferson Davis's visit to England to eulogize him, and to express their sympathy with the South, and their regret at the failure to establish its claims before the world. This is not the language of true friendship toward us, and all the assertions of English lecturers, and others, whose individual sympathies are with us, will not make it appear that such a feeling exists.

A Strange Character.

IMPORTANT MOVEMENT OF SOLDIERS.

Meeting in Support of Gen. Grant, without Distinction of Party.

Some days ago an informal meeting of soldiers was held in Pittsburgh for the purpose of discussing the question as to how they would vote in the approaching election. It was found that, although there were Democrats as well as Republicans present, all were unanimous in support of Gen. Grant. A convention of all honorably discharged soldiers of Allegheny county, who desired the election of Gen. Grant, was then determined upon, and a call for that purpose was prepared for circulation. This action was taken without advice or direction from politicians or party managers. [illegible]

This Company, National in its character, offers, by reason of its Large Capital, Low Rates of Premium and New Tables, the most desirable means of insuring life yet presented to the public.

The rates of premium, being largely reduced, are made as favorable to the insurers as those of the best Mutual Companies, and avoid all the complications and uncertainties of Notes, Dividends and the misunderstandings which the latter are so apt to cause the Policy-Holders.

Several new and attractive tables are now presented which need only to be understood to prove acceptable to the public, such as the INCOME-PRODUCING POLICY and RETURN PREMIUM POLICY. In the former, the policy-holder not only secures a Life Insurance, payable at death, but will receive, if living, after a period of a few years, an annual income equal to ten per cent. (10 per cent.) of the par of his policy. In the latter, the Company agrees to return to the assured the total amount of money he has paid in, in addition to the amount of his policy.

The attention of persons contemplating insuring their lives or increasing the amount of insurance they already have, is called to the special advantages offered by the National Life Insurance Company.

Circulars, Pamphlets and full particulars given on application to the Branch Office of the Company in Philadelphia, or to its General Agents.

GET A GOOD SAW.

And Your Mill will do Good Work.

Our Saws are Oil Tempered, Patent Ground, made to Run well.

You will find each Saw of one Temper and no Hard and Soft Spots in the same Saw.

We accomplish this by our Patent Tempering Process, and you can not get this from any other Saw Maker, as we own the Patents for the United States.

We do not claim to make a cheaper Saw than any one else, but one that will run at the word go, and will give no trouble, and will keep round longer; because being uniform with Temper, it will not wear on one side faster than the other.

We invite correspondence, or an interview with the practical man of your firm.

MEETING OF SOLDIERS.

TO ALL HONORABLY DISCHARGED SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

COMRADES—At an informal gathering of a few Soldiers, not politicians or partisans, the question was raised as to how Soldiers would probably vote in the approaching election. Those assembled, though in times past divided in political sentiment, proved unanimous in support of Gen. Grant. It was determined to issue an Address to our Comrades calling a meeting of all who desire the election of Gen. Grant, with a view to concert of action. This conclusion was arrived at without consultation with any politician or political Executive Committee, and uninfluenced by suggestions from such parties.

When Treason dared to attempt the overthrow of our Government and the disruption of the Union, we waited not to consult our former political parties or their leaders, or to see on which side our party might range itself, but we all—Democrats, Republicans and Bell-Everett men—sprang promptly to arms to save our common country from its foes. And now that the excitement of conflict is passed, the clash of arms hushed, muskets and accoutrements laid aside, amid the quiet and comforts of home, we look back on our patriotic course with pride, mingled only with tears over the memory of our fallen comrades; not one feeling of self-reproach mars the retrospect, although we recollect that among our companions in arms were many who had been our political opponents, and among our foes were some whom we had revered and followed as political guides and oracles.

At the close of the war, some who had gone away Democrats came back Republicans; but not a few returned with the expectation of voting again with the ever glorious Democratic party, hoping and believing that it had seen and repented its errors. Some of us have since our return supported the nominees of the Democratic party.

But now that another general election impends, it is our duty again to choose sides—not as partisans, but as patriots. A true Union soldier can never become a mere party man.

Believing this, the undersigned address this call to their fellow soldiers, not in behalf of a political party or its nominees, but in behalf of the peace and prosperity of our nation, which are again threatened. Had the Democratic party spurned the dictation of Wade Hampton and his co-traitors, and offered us a loyal, honest Union Platform, with Hancock or some other candidate, with a good war record, some at least of the undersigned would not have joined in issuing this call. But with such a Platform and Ticket, championed by Wade Hampton, Semmes, Cobb, Toombs, Wise, and other like traitors, we cannot hesitate as to our course.

To say that the threats of these enemies of the Union mean nothing, is worse than folly; they proved themselves terribly in earnest before, and we have every reason to believe them so now.

DR. SARGENT'S BACKACHE PILLS

Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Organs.

Any derangement or obstruction of these Organs is quickly followed by acute suffering, which, if not corrected immediately, will be followed by the most disastrous consequences. Nature herself will not rally from any prostration of these organs, but must be assisted by the use of a Diuretic; as such

DR. SARGENT'S BACKACHE PILLS

Stand pre-eminent, having proved themselves superior to any medicine yet discovered for affections of the Kidneys, &c.

Read the following testimony in their favor:

GEO. A. KELLY—Dear Sir: I was so badly afflicted with pain in the kidneys that I could hardly turn myself in bed, and breathing also caused me severe pain. I had given up hopes of ever getting well again, when I bought a box of Dr. SARGENT'S BACKACHE PILLS, which at once relieved me, and I believe they have been the means of the cure. I have also recommended them to others where like complaints were made, and they have in every case proved efficacious. I cheerfully recommend them to any one suffering from this trouble, as I believe they are the best medicine for this class of diseases I have ever heard of. Any further information can be obtained by seeing me at Outer Depot, Pennsylvania Railroad, or at my residence, No. 53 Arthurs street.

The Celebrated Walter Grape.

After twenty-five years experience with the present tender, and late varieties we know the Walter, now first offered, will restore confidence in Grape raising. It never rots. Its abundant sugar raisins it in-doors or on the vine; it is a great grower and bearer, and now contains 146 clusters of bloom; is very compact in cluster at the East, which is in advantage in marketing. We have not known the foliage to mildew. It succeeds in dry and very wet soil. Is a seedling of the Delaware, crossed with the Diana, and better than either. Ripens before the Hartford, therefore, the earliest, hardiest and best variety. No. 1, one year, $5 each, in advance. Orders filled in rotation, while supply lasts. No charge for packing. Send stamp for beautiful cut and opinions of many vineyards.
